This pass was issued to all members of the Polish Tatra Mountain Society (Polskie Towarzystwo Tatrzańskie). It was a red, booklet-type document, 15 x 10 cm when folded and 15 x 20 cm when opened. The front cover of the document carried the society's name, emblem and central headquarters address, [redacted] believed to be in WARSAW. [redacted] this pass was also issued to high government dignitaries who desired it when vacationing in the Zakopane area.

The pass holders were allowed to hike in restricted border belt areas, and to take parties of five to seven persons into these areas; however, to do so, the pass holder had to report the proposed hike, the area to be visited, and the names of persons to be included in the party. This notification had to be made 24 hours prior to the commencement of the proposed hike. In this manner, the person in charge of the hike remained solely responsible for the behavior of the members of his party. [redacted] the 24-hour notification period was for the benefit of WOP, who utilized this time to alert WOP stationary and patrol units that a hiking party would be in a specific area the following day. This pass allowed the holder and his party to hike in the vicinity of Rysy peak (at coordinates UTM DV-338482) and areas beyond the peaks of Kasprowy Wierch (at coordinates UTM DV-259538) and Czerwone Wierchy (at coordinates UTM DV-208539), all located directly on the Polish-Czechoslovak Border and off-limits to ordinary tourists and hikers. However, ordinary tourists were allowed to visit the lakes of Gasienicowe Stawy (at coordinates UTM DV-274540), Morskie Oko (at coordinates UTM DV-327503), and Mickiewicz Waterfalls, the Restaurant-Hotel and Meteorological Station on Kasprowy Wierch peak.

They warned persons that they were nearing the border and also that a person would be detained if he did not possess the proper documents in his possession. Beyond this point, persons were required to have the Red Pass or be in the company of someone who had one on his person, and their presence in the area was properly declared 24 hours previously.

c. Border Markers

The border proper was marked by granite markers, approximately 20 x 30 cm and 80 cm high, one end of which was buried in the ground. they were approximately 200 m apart throughout the entire length of the border line in the Zakopane area of the Tatra mountain region. The only markings on these markers were the letters "P" on the Polish side and "C" on the Czechoslovak side. The letters were chiseled into the granite and were approximately 10 cm high.
